HOLY WEEK

The crucial part of Holy Week at local churches began with Maundy/Holy Thursday services on March 29 evening. The symbolic washing of the feet act was followed in churches in the early part of Holy Mass, an act that Jesus did to his apostles in a show of humility and love.

At Our Lady of Guidance Church on Lazarus Church Road, parish priest Fr. Bosco led the service and washed the feet of seniors – as seen in the photo.

Adoration services continued after Holy Mass, going up to midnight. These continued through Good Friday.

Relaid road is dug up

P. S. Sivaswamy Salai in Mylapore has been the zone of civic headaches for years – flooding, sewage outflow, badly-maintained road, traffic chaos.

Remember the flooding that severely affected people of this area last December? The MLA had to call for boats to save people marooned here.

Now here comes another messy civic act. This busy road was milled and relaid a month ago. This road connects Vivekananda College side to Royapettah High Road and the new-look road was welcomed.

Now, this road had been dug up – the section opposite to Metrowater's pumping station.

Local civic staff say the digging was unavoidable. It is said this civil work is for a sewage pipeline that will connect the pumping station and this work will be on for a week.

This green zone in R. A. Puram is a community effort

A small patch of greenery developed under a huge peepal tree on R. A. Puram's 4th Main Road was formally presented to the community at an event held on Sunday, March 3.

The Mylapore MLA, Dha. Velu, took part.

This green spot under a peepul tree was developed under the state government's scheme called Namakku Name Thittam promoted by GCC. This scheme was introduced two years ago as part of Singara Chennai project.

RAPRA, the local association, says it is the first community body to have collaborated in this scheme.
